Note: Many of the ICHH pilot projects were developed to serve families at-risk of homelessness at the "access points" at which they typically arrive seeking help.
Families seeking services before they get to this stage are asked to contact MBHP's Housing Consumer Education Center, 617-425-6700.
* For help in the City of Boston, call Housing Consumer Education Center, 617-425-6700.
To receive help under ICHH programs, families must have incomes under 115% of the federal poverty guidelines or be residing in shelter.
Note: MBHP's Housing Consumer Education Center serves households of all income levels; different programs have different income guidelines.
